

Future bright for road redevelopment

There may be hope yet for the reconstruction of Minden's roads and streets.

Following a meeting last Thursday with the Ontario Minister of Transportation and Communications, James Snow, Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Lloyd Walker expressed cautious optimism that repaving of the streets could be carried out in the next few years.

"He did not give us a definite answer," the reeve stated, "however what he had to say sounded very favourable."

The minister has asked the council to have a consultant examine the roads which need attention, and determine a price for carrying out the work. According to the reeve, the consultant has already visited the community and been taken on a tour of the roads which are being considered for reconstruction. A final report is expected from the consultant in three or four weeks. This information will then be presented to the minister for his consideration.

Walker said the township is pursuing the possibility of having the work carried out under the provincial development road program. If the work could be designated as part of the development road scheme, provincial funding for the work could be as high as 90%.

The reeve stated that if the township attempted to undertake the work itself, the financial burden would be too great.

The streets being considered in the proposal to the minister include Main Street from the Highway 35 entrance to the new library-cultural centre, Prince Street, South Water Street, Lyon Street and Newcastle Street.

All of the members of the council, except Councillor Ed Pergolas, clerk Elinor Burke and road superintendent Earl Kent attended the meeting. Pergolas was unable to attend due to car trouble. Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins was also in attendance.

Walker said the minister suggested that the work might be carried out over a two or three year period. The reeve said he preferred the two year construction term. The proposal would be to start the work next year.

"I think we all came away with a positive outlook for the future of the streets in the community," Walker said.

Deer harvest increases: says Ministry official

The size of the deer herd appears to be increasing in the Minden area according to officials of the local office of the Ministry of Natural Resources who monitored the annual week of hunting last

Hunter dies in bush

A hunter died of what police describe as "natural causes" during the annual deer hunt last week.

Police report that Norman Edgar Lake, 53, of Toronto was found dead in the bush by fellow hunters November 2. The man was hunting in the Kennis Lake area.

An Ontario Provincial Police helicopter was used to bring the deceased from the bush. The attending coroner was Dr. Holliday-Rhodes.

The incident was investigated by Constable Brian Dunham and Corporal Ron Foran.

Attempted murder charge laid

A man has been charged with attempted murder following a shooting incident November 4 in Dysart Township.

The charge has been laid against 32 year old Leonard Stamp.

According to the police, the man arrived at a residence in Dysart Township carrying a 12 gauge shot gun. A shot was fired and 52 year old Mervyn Roberts was wounded. The man is currently in satisfactory condition.

Stamp appeared in Provincial Court Monday and was remanded in custody for another week. A bail hearing may be held in the near future. The man is being held in the Lindsay jail.

Constables Brian Ladurantaye and Mike Legge are the investigating officers.

week.

According to wildlife supervisor Dave Atkinson, of the Minden office, the deer population is responding to the selective harvest procedures which the ministry has recently introduced and the fact that the past three winters have not created unusual problems for the deer.

Under the selective hunting system, only a certain number of hunters are issued licences to shoot antlerless deer (does and fawns). All other hunters are only permitted to take deer with antlers, (bucks).

Atkinson noted that the number of antlerless permits have doubled in management district 56 (Minden area) and 54 (Stanhope-Dorset area) this year. There were 112 issued for the Minden area this year and 54 for the area north of here. These figures represent ratios of one in twelve and one in 15 hunters with the special permits.

The MNR spokesman said he felt most of the hunters were happy with the results of the hunt. "The number of deer killed is up over last year," he commented. Final figures would not be available until later this year.

"The hunters were seeing more deer this year," Atkinson commented. "This is definitely a good sign."

During the six day hunting season, which ended on Saturday, MNR Conservation Officers checked 770 hunters. In that period, 12 charges were laid.

Atkinson noted that the ministry had been able to increase its surveillance of the hunt with the use of helicopters. One was in the area for several days prior to the start of the season and twice during the season. "The helicopters allowed us to check 27 hunt camps in the area," Atkinson commented. "In the past it could take up to a full day for an officer to reach a camp. The use of the helicopters has changed that situation dramatically."

The helicopters have also been used at night to spot hunters who were "jack-lighting" deer. The term refers to the use of bright lights to locate deer. The lights generally cause the animals to freeze, offering an easy target for the hunters. Hunting at night is illegal.

Helen is looking forward to winter

There is at least one person in Minden who is eagerly awaiting the arrival of snow.

Helen Milne, the Rotary exchange student from Australia had her first taste of winter and snow last year and is looking forward to enjoying it again.

"I had never experienced snow before," she commented in an interview earlier this week. It was quite an initiation last January when she stepped off the airplane at Toronto International Airport into the middle of Canadian winter. She seems to have adapted quickly however, as evidenced by her desire for the snow to return.

"I tried both downhill and cross-country skiing and really enjoyed both," Helen stated. She prefers the cross-country style because it was not as difficult to master.

Helen's home is located in the southwest corner of Australia where summer drought is a common occurrence. She lives on a farm and the nearest community to her home is Borden, Western Australia. The Indian Ocean is 200 miles to the west and the Southern Ocean is 60 miles to the south.

The farm covers 9000 acres and is close to the arid central portion of the country. The Milnes raise sheep, wheat, barley and cattle. The grain is grown for the export market. Borden is a community which is smaller than Minden and so Helen was attending school in Perth at a boarding school.

Helen Milne is the Rotary Exchange student from Australia.

During her stay here she has been a student at HHSS.

In addition to her winter experience, Helen notes that the topography of the land is one of the main differences between her home and here. She commented the land in her part of Australia has rolling hills, fewer lakes and trees.

During her stay in Canada Helen has spent a great deal of time travelling across the country. Along with 26 other exchange students who are staying in this Rotary district, she travelled to the west coast, visited Vancouver, the Calgary Stampede, several northern United States. The Rocky Mountains have left a lasting impression on the visitor. "We have, what we call mountains near our home, but nothing as spectacular as the Rockies," she commented.

She has travelled to numerous sites in southern Ontario including Toronto and Niagara Falls. She has also visited Ottawa and Quebec City.

Her stay in Canada, which ends January 15, is being coordinated by Rotary International with Australian sponsorship from the Gnowangerup Rotary Club. Gnowangerup (Helen offers to spell it immediately after pronouncing it ... the 'G' is silent) is the shire or county seat. The Rotary Club has 22 members.

While in Minden, she is the

A day for remembering

As the country's population grows and changes from year to year, there are fewer individuals who can claim to have experienced the devastating effects of war. Each year a few more veterans are gone, each year the memories a bit dimmer, and each year the honours that accompanied armed conflict become more distant.

That is why the tradition of pausing once each year is a valuable and meaningful exercise. It gives the nation an opportunity to recognize the sacrifices which have been made on its behalf. We have a chance to thank those who fought on foreign soil, some of whom will rest there forever and those who returned will bear the scars of combat. The day also recognizes the less obvious, but no less important contribution of those who "manned" the home front.

Their legacy is a country that is democratically free in a world that is falling increasingly under the boot of totalitarian control, be it from the right or left. It is only right that we should express our appreciation to those who fought on our behalf.

However, as well, we should firmly grab the torch which has been thrown to us and jealously protect these freedoms which were so bitterly secured.

For many Canadians today war exists only in books, movies or the memories of others. But that is no reason to devalue the importance of the day. As we stand silently before the memorial, if our memories do not stretch back to days of conflict, we should recognize that individually we owe an incalculable debt to those who have gone before.

A black day for the Legislature

— by John Eakins, M.P.P. —

Tuesday of last week was a dark day in the history of the Ontario Legislature. Never have I seen a government show such disregard for the rights of the people, especially since winning a majority in the last election.

Regarding the debate on Suncor, it is very important that people understand that we in the Opposition are fighting tooth and nail for the sacred rights of Parliament, and even more so for the rights of every taxpayer and every resident of the Province of Ontario.

The rights are simply these: the right to know how and why billions of their tax dollars are being spent and the right of the Opposition to demand a reasonable explanation from the government even when it has a majority.

Debate was lengthy and heated, and was only ended when the Government invoked closure. As Toronto's "Globe and Mail" commented in an editorial on November 5th, "For the first time since 1874, an Ontario Government has cut off debate in the Legislature through the invocation of closure. It has done so for a reason which makes a mockery of the parliamentary system - to avoid giving the Opposition parties detailed information on the purchase, and reasons for purchase, of 25 per cent of Suncor Inc. of Toronto."

During the debate, the Leader of the New Democratic Party was ejected from the House, and Liberal House Leader Bob Nixon was threatened with the same thing before the Speaker called a ten minute recess for tempers to cool.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith described the motion of closure as a muzzle on debate and said that "the government had abused the rights of Parliament and the people". He had condemned the oil company deal as a bad investment of $650 million in tax money at a time when the province is resorting to deficit financing. The money could, he said, have been better used in other areas of Ontario's slumping economy. "The government has made a very expensive purchase ... and should justify the purchase or go to the people".

The justification which he, and other Opposition members seek should - hopefully - be contained in reports prepared by private financial consultants advising the government on the Suncor purchase.

Robert Runciman, the new Conservative MPP for Leeds, in an interview, joined the Opposition in calling the government disclosure of information on the Suncor deal. Another Conservative Member, Morley Kells (Humber) left the House rather than vote on the closure motion, which he said was "politically stupid" and "the last thing" which should have been done.

Even some Cabinet Ministers have expressed, privately, their concern about the Suncor deal, saying they should have been told more about one of the largest single expenditures in provincial history.

Conservative Members have also blocked in Committee demands of the Opposition for a public inquiry into the Suncor question. Instead, they have passed their own motion that the General Government Committee look at the $650 million purchase if Party House Leaders have the time. Opposition Members ridiculed the Conservative motion, claiming that the current Legislative session will have recessed by the time the Committee gets around to Suncor, and estimates committees cannot sit when the Legislature is not in session.

Letters

Editor:

We would like to inform your readers that we will soon be marking the 100th anniversary of Canada's last rebellion, and we need their help. In 1885, Louis Riel and his Metis and Indian supporters arose on the Saskatchewan prairies, protesting their treatment at the hands of the government. Militia units from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes were called up to quell the rebellion.

To mark this centennial, the Glenbow Museum in Calgary is organizing a major exhibition on the rebellion which we plan to circulate across Canada. However, we need the help of anyone whose relatives were involved in the militia at that time who might have souvenirs, parts of uniforms, Indian relics, photographs, letters, or anything relating to the rebellion which might have been brought back. We are also trying to find anything dealing with the militia units themselves - colours, accoutrements, weapons, etc.

We are prepared to buy, borrow or accept donations of such items for our exhibition. If you have anything or can put us in touch with anyone who does, we would certainly like you to write or phone us collect (403) 264-8300.

The year 1885 was important in Canadian history. You can help us to commemorate it.

A day to remember

— by Bill Scott, M.P. —

Today, Canadians will observe the 63rd anniversary of the Armistice that brought an end to World War I.

In the beginning, this day was set aside each year to honour the dead of the First Great War. In recent years, however, the name Armistice Day has been changed to Remembrance Day, and its theme has been broadened to embrace the dead and the survivors of all of Canada's wars, from the South African War to the Korean Conflict.

Since the beginning of this century, more than 100,000 Canadians have laid down their lives on the battlefields, in the air and on the oceans of the world.

Their sacrifices have made it possible for us to live out our lives in a state of peace and tranquility enjoyed by very few nations in the world. It is fitting, then, that we should set aside this day every year to honour those who gave their lives for their Monarch and their country, and to express our thanks to the survivors.

On this day, throughout the country, ceremonies will mark the occasion as veterans and their families, public officials and the populace at large, remember the selflessness and bravery of those generations of Canadians who did not return from the wars.

It will also be a day to reflect on the tireless efforts of the Royal Canadian Legion in their pursuit to ensure that their fallen comrades are not forgotten, and that the survivors of our wars receive the recognition they so richly deserve.

Members of the 1800 Legion branches across the country have initiated action to have monuments erected to their fallen comrades; they have lobbied governments to improve benefits and pensions for those who suffer disabilities as a result of their service, and they have established community projects such as scholarships and athletic events to instill in the young an awareness of the sacrifices made by their forebears.

It is a time, also, to dedicate ourselves anew to the task of seeking that lasting peace bought at such great cost by so many Canadians. It is a time to strengthen our resolve to resist oppression and aggression through membership in NATO, NORAD and the United Nations.

On this hallowed day, let us think deeply on those words spoken aloud at every meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion, "We Will Remember Them".

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

By now we've all become accustomed to stories about the theft of money or jewels, but the work of felons is not restricted to such common items. Increasingly, nesting birds are becoming victims too, with their nests and eggs stolen right out from beneath them!

Why would anyone want to rob a nest? For money, of course. Amateur egg-collectors, or oologists, stock their secret collections with nests and eggs stolen in the middle of the night, often playing handsomely for a rare find. In Britain, where the collections are most common, a peregrine falcon nest can fetch $2500 on the black market. Last year, 40 falcon nests were robbed of eggs or young, making this "hobby" a serious obstacle to the success of this endangered species.

Canada is not immune either. In Churchill, Manitoba, the nest of a rare Ross's gull disappeared one night last summer. Only three nests of this rare, pink-breasted gull were known, and the loss of one was a maddening, frustrating, event. Anticipating problems, the World Wildlife Fund (Canada) had paid for a hired guard on the nests, but their efforts were thwarted by a determined thief.

British naturalists are turning to modern technology to help prevent the thefts of the nest of falcons and ospreys. Volunteers from the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds had previously been using microphones to listen for prowlers, but a windy or rainy night made the microphones unreliable. Now they are being assisted by the use of special pocket monoculars, originally designated to help sufferers of "night blindness". These compact monoculars, which contain over a million tiny cores of optical fibres, gather light so efficiently that nest-watchers can detect the slightest disturbance with ease.

The monoculars, which have been donated to the nest guardians by the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, will also be used to study the nocturnal behaviour of waterfowl. But their greatest use will be in the stopping of the nest-robbers, to help save some of Britain's rarest birds.

Remembrance

The following essay, written by Jacinta Gallant, was chosen as the winning senior essay in the Royal Canadian Legion essay writing contest for 1981. Jacinta is a grade 12 student at Charlottetown Rural High School, Prince Edward Island.

Jesus said, "A man can have no greater love than to lay down his life for his fellow man."

How much the soldiers who fought in the war must have loved their countries. Our men must have believed with all their hearts that the family and friends at home were worth dying for. They helped to preserve our past and enrich our future. As a part of their future, as a symbol of the many lives that were taken and denied any kind of future, I wear my poppy with pride.

When I think of the young men whose hopes and dreams were extinguished so that I may have a bright future, I feel sad, yet grateful. We all live in Canada in freedom and unity because of their strength and courage. The poppy symbolizes these qualities and should be an inspiration to us all to live as those who fought would have us live. We have the veterans who survived the war to be an example. Since they've been there, they know all too well what a disappointment it would be for the world to go to war again.

In order for us to fulfill the dreams of our soldiers, we must try to take on the qualities symbolized by our poppies, strength and courage. Combining these attributes with a love for every man of every nation, we may be a world of peace. Isn't this the quality of life that man strives for?

And so, as we, on Remembrance Day, place our wreaths around monuments of our brave soldiers, we can be proud that our country is a free one. As we stand in silence we thank God for this freedom and pray that the whole world may be free and peaceful. This day of remembrance should be carried out in our every day life as we try to build a world for our dead soldiers to be proud of.

Through faith in God, I know all our men who died for us have been given the peace that can only come from above. Jesus's words were like a promise, I believe, and I know all the surviving soldiers know that there's a special place in heaven for them.

The beautiful colours of autumn have faded and now as we enter November our thoughts turn to those dark days of the two world wars which fewer and fewer of us can remember. This is good because those who can remember would never want such times to return. On the other hand we must never forget the price that was paid for the freedom we enjoy and sometimes take for granted.

The poppy became the symbol of remembrance after the Great War of 1914-1918 when disabled veterans started to make poppies to raise money to aid those who had answered the call and now needed help. The poppy, as we wear it reminds us of the sacrifice made by 105,000 of our men; boys in the golden years of their lives, eager to live but heeding the call of their country in its hour of peril.

Much has been said, but it bears repeating: from their blood our freedom flows. Only we can ensure their sacrifice was not in vain. The annual Remembrance Day Service will be held at Branch 129 Haliburton at 10 a.m. with the parade moving off to the Cenotaph at 10:45. Everyone is welcome to attend this service.

They shall grow not old....

guest of members of the local club, boarding with different club families during the year.

The trip to Canada has made Helen keenly aware of her own country. "Wherever I go people want to know about Australia," she commented. "I thought I had a good general knowledge of Australia, but I often find myself consulting several reference texts I brought with me to answer peoples' questions about the country."

Helen has found the welcome in Minden to be extremely warm and friendly. One of the first things she plans to do when she returns home is to start saving so she can make a return visit to the area. "It is hard to push aside a year of your life. I've made many friends here and I know after I leave I'll be eager to get back."

Before she leaves for home, however, she plans to experience as much of North America as possible. While she is eagerly awaiting winter's arrival, she may not be here when the first flakes fall. Helen will be leaving next week for Florida to get a taste of that other winter playground that is so popular with Canadians.

BUCKLE UP

YOU MAY NOT GET A SECOND CHANCE

In a head-on collision at 50 kph (30 mph), it only takes 1/10th of a second for a car to slam to a shattering stop.

Many people think they can protect themselves in a collision. But even in a low-speed crash an unbelted person hits the inside of the car with the force of several thousand pounds.

Wear your seat belt properly—snug and low over the hips, the shoulder belt worn loose enough to allow an inch or two between chest and belt—especially on those short trips close to home when most accidents occur.

At the first meeting of the Chamber's newly elected board of directors last week the first order of business was the selection of a new executive. The Chamber's constitution was revised at the annual meeting to identify the executive as "the president, vice president, and two other members of the board of directors, as appointed by the board".

Rhonda Elstone of Elstone Construction was elected as the president for the coming year and for Rhonda this follows a year as vice-president and a previous year as finance chairman. Assisting her will be Curtis Eastmure of Maple Sands Resort who was elected vice president. Curtis was finance chairman last year and worked very closely with the executive.

The two other members of the board elected to the executive were Ken Langdon of Black's Hardware and Dennis Casey, Manager of Skyline Rides Ltd. Ken served on the board last year as chairman of the business development committee and also chaired the constitution review task force. Dennis is a past-president of the Chamber and returned to the board this year after an absence of three years.

This executive will now meet this week to assign the various duties to the other members of the board.

The Haliburton County Economic Development Commission delegates from the board were also appointed at this meeting. Curtis Eastmure and Jack McGregor, from Camp Kandalore, will represent the Chamber on the Commission along with the president, whose appointment is automatic.

Inwats continues

The toll-free line that has been utilized by the Chamber and a number of members will stay in place after all. A motion made previously by the board to discontinue the line due to the technical difficulties the Bell Telephone was having in providing proper reception was rescinded after discussion with legal counsel and some of the subscribing members. A new motion was passed that "all efforts be taken, through the manager and legal counsel to effect an operative service on the Inwats line."

The Bell Telephone has offered to refund all the money the Chamber has spent with them for this service since, they say, better reception is not possible on the existing lines or switching equipment. Some of the subscribers to the Chamber's service on this line are very adamant that the service must continue because they have expended a considerable amount of money in promoting the fact that they can be reached on this number.

The Chamber also, of course, has advertised the number to a considerable extent, such as on the cover of 50,000 Lure Brochures. The Board also felt that the positive effect of having this toll-free line in place at the Chamber is not something they wanted to abandon if at all possible.

THE MANAGEMENT OF ENERGY IN CANADA. ONE OF A SERIES.

HERE'S HOW TO SAVE BIG DOLLARS WHEN YOU BUY BIG ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

LOOK FOR THE ENERGIDE LABEL

When you buy a major electrical appliance, you're picking up two price tags. One is the cost of the appliance. The other is the cost of the electricity to operate it over its lifetime.

Until recently the energy price tag was missing. You paid now — but had little idea of what you would go on paying. Now there's a second tag, in the form of an Energuide label.

WHAT IS ENERGIDE?

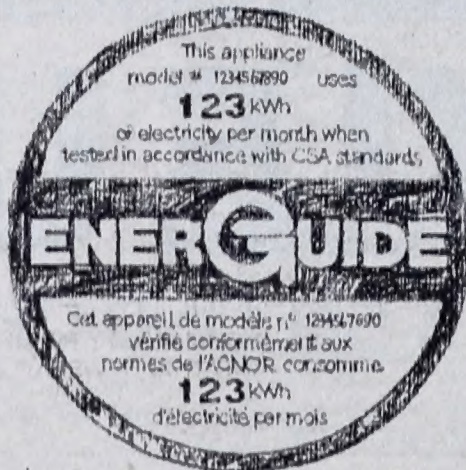

Energuide is an appliance labelling program under which energy consumption "stickers" are attached to new refrigerators, freezers, dishwashers, clothes washers, and kitchen ranges offered for sale in Canada. The program was initiated by the Government of Canada and is operated in co-operation with consumer groups, appliance manufacturers and retailers, electrical utilities and provincial governments.

COMPARISON SHOPPING

The whole idea behind Energuide is to help you, the consumer, to compare the energy cost tags of appliances and determine which is the best buy. Comparison shopping and wise decisions can save you a great deal of energy and money over the long run.

HOW DOES ENERGIDE WORK?

The label on each new appliance shows the number of kilowatt hours of electricity (kWh) consumed by that appliance in one month of normal operation. This rating is determined by a test developed by the Canadian Standards Association for all appliances labelled. The number is representative of the energy that the appliance will consume under normal operation in your home. It's not exact; the test could never duplicate precisely all the conditions in your home. But it is correct as a comparative rating, to indicate the difference between models.

To convert the Energuide rating in kWh to dollars, multiply by the cost of a kWh in your area. (The current national average is 4¢ per kWh.) This will give you the operating cost for one month.

kWh per month × cents per kWh = cost per month.

WORK OUT THE LIFETIME COST

To really appreciate the importance of Energuide ratings, figure out the lifetime energy cost of the appliance. The average major appliance lasts 15 years, or 180 months.

Multiply the cost per month by 180 and the number you get will be impressive. And it will be an underestimate, because it assumes a constant electricity price over 15 years.

TWO REFRIGERATOR EXAMPLES

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada publishes each year the Energuide ratings for new appliances. From the 1981 Refrigerator listing come the following examples:

Type and Defrost System	Total cu. ft.	kWh month
Model A—Two-door, top mounted freezer, frost free	18.2	117
Model B—Two-door, top mounted freezer, frost free	17.1	190

Over a 15-year lifetime Model A, although slightly larger, would cost you $842.40 for energy (at a constant 4¢/kWh). Model B's energy cost would be $1,368.00. That's a difference of $525.60!

WHEN MORE IS LESS

The appliance with the lower Energuide ratings may cost a little more to buy — they usually have more insulation, better motors, more sophisticated controls. But as the above example shows, the value of the energy they save over their life cycle will pay for the extra investment many times over.

So when you're shopping for major appliances look at both tags, do a little figuring and buy the model that will be cheapest over its life cycle — not just the cheapest on its purchase price.

AN ENERGIDE BONUS FOR ALL

Besides providing consumers with information for comparison shopping, the Energuide program is having another effect. Appliance manufacturers are improving the energy efficiency of their models. Already there have been some notable improvements and experts predict that within a few years major appliances will be consuming about 40% less electricity — while providing the same services. That's a powerful example of how consumer power and industrial innovation go hand in hand.

Decorated trees featured on new issue

This year's Christmas stamps will feature three decorated tree designs. The stamps will have special significance as this year marks the two hundredth anniversary of the introduction of illuminated Christmas trees in Canada. That event took place in the home of a German family in Sorel, Quebec.

Canadians of German descent have actively participated for over 300 years in the economic, social, and cultural development of Canada. The introduction of the illuminated Christmas tree stands as one of their more visible and lasting contributions to our Canadian traditions and way of life.

In 1781 at Sorel, Quebec, Friederike von Riedesel and her husband Friedrich introduced the illuminated Christmas tree to Canada. Major General Friedrich von Riedesel came to Canada with his wife and children in 1776. He was in charge of a contingent of German troops sent to help put down the American revolution. But he was captured by the Americans and along with his family spent two years in captivity and two further years in the United States before returning to Quebec in 1781 to a posting in Sorel.

To celebrate Christmas, Friederike Riedesel had the idea of putting up an illuminated tree. The idea caught on, and by the late nineteenth century even settlers on the prairies regarded a tree as an essential part of the Yuletide festivities. Thus, introduced in French Canada by the wife of a German general working for the English, the Christmas tree idea spread across all of Canada.

The three 15-cent stamps were designed by Toronto artist Anita Kunz, a Canadian of German ancestry. The 1781 stamp features a tree decorated with ornaments that might have been used by the Baroness Friederike von Riedesel; the 1881 stamp, a tree with late nineteenth century decorations; and the 1981 stamp, a modern tree with glass balls and electric lights.

Huskies win and tie in games with Parry Sound

The Haliburton Huskies came out ahead in a home-in-home series during the weekend with the Parry Sound Shamrocks.

Friday evening the two teams emerged from the sixty minutes of play with identical 6-6 scores. The game was played in Haliburton.

There was no scoring in the first period and the Shamrocks managed two goals during the second frame to take the lead.

Scott Arbuthnot put the Huskies on the scoresheet in the third period on an unassisted effort. Then Ron Yake scored with the assists going to Dave Nicholl and Darrin MacInnes. Another goal from Parry Sound gave the visitors the lead.

However, Chris Hodgson scored from Scotty Rae and Tim Davies to even the tally. The Shamrocks moved ahead again, while a goal by Dave Nicholl from Ron Yake and Ed Davis again tied the contest.

Two more goals for Haliburton seemed to assure the win for the Huskies. Davis scored from Kevin Shapiera and Nicholl, and Rob Abbs tallied from Shapiera on a power play.

The visitors were able to manage two more goals before the final buzzer when the Huskies were short-handed. The tying goal was scored with the Shamrock's net empty.

The Huskies sought revenge and got it Sunday in Parry Sound where they defeated their hosts 8-4. Scoring for the Huskies were: in the first period: Ed Davis from Tim Davies and Darrin MacInnes; Davies from Davis and Butch Manary; and Shaun Chapman from Kevin Shapiera.

Second period: Davies from Davis and Davies again from Davis and Manary; Scott Arbuthnot on a power play with assists going to Shapiera and Gary Harrison.

Third period: Davis from Davies and Davis again from MacInnes and Davies.

The next games for the Huskies are this weekend. They play in Bracebridge Friday evening and meet Midland Sunday, 2:30 p.m. at the Haliburton arena.

Community information service being proposed

— by Susan Clements —

I wish to relate the history of the development of the proposed community information and referral service for Haliburton County. It is my intention to highlight the contribution of local volunteers in the planning and development of this service.

In February 1981, an advisory board on children's services for Haliburton County (H.C.L.A.B.) was formed. The advisory board was an offshoot of Children's Services Steering Committee, serving the counties of Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough, and Peterborough City. The main objective of the advisory board was to identify the pre-eminent needs of children from age zero to eighteen, and to suggest strategies to fulfill those needs.

The advisory board concluded that there was a need for public access to information on human resources and recommended the hiring of an information co-ordinator to:

- establish an office to dispense information to all citizens in the county

- provide a directory of human resources
- direct clients to the most appropriate service
- assist service providers by taking messages and arranging appointments as requested
- conduct follow-up procedures
- inform the community of the service

- train a body of volunteers

The advisory board's next move was to ascertain whether an existing service in the county had the interest and capability to provide an information and referral service. Haliburton County Home Support Services (HCHSS) was approached, and in a short time, the board of that organization gave the advisory board an affirmative answer.

In the spring of 1981, a management committee composed of advisory board and Home Support members was formed. Throughout the next few months, the management committee explored possible funding sources for the information service, and visited information centres in adjacent rural areas. It was decided that Home Support would be responsible for directing the service, and that funds would be requested from Employment and Immigration Canada through the Canada Community Development Project programme to operate the service. Such a grant would be supplied for one year. At the conclusion of that year, it was proposed that trained volunteers would carry on the operation.

Haliburton County Home Support Services hired an Experience '81 student for the summer to prepare a filing system on community resources to be used as the foundation for the information service. The files contain information in the fields of health, education, social services, justice and recreation.

The management committee is presently awaiting a decision from Employment and Immigration Canada regarding its application for funding. Early indications are that the submission has been favourably received. Regardless of the final federal government decision, the citizens in Haliburton County should be proud of the commitment and interest demonstrated by local volunteers in this project. Proposals such as the information and referral service do not magically appear, but are the result of a concerted effort by concerned citizens in the county.

Coming events

- Denver Developmental Tests - vision, hearing, and developmental tests for three year olds in the Haliburton area. November 26, 1981 at the Public Health Unit in Haliburton. Please call 457-1391 for an appointment.

- Bazaar and Tea at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home, Minden on November 18, 1981 from 2 - 4 p.m.

- Foot Care Clinic - for anyone who cannot care for their own feet. Cardiff area on November 26, 1981. Call 339-2842 for an appointment.

County only mentioned once

Haliburton County is only represented once so far in this year's Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, Molson's Big Fish Contest. The annual event, draws entries from throughout the province for a competition which offers cash prizes for the largest fish in ten species.

The only reference to the county is made in the small-mouth bass category where the seventh place entry was taken from South Lake in Snowdon Township. The lake has been known locally as a good lake for smallmouth catches.

The entry was submitted by G. Bneschkewitz of Brampton. His catch weighed six pounds one ounce and was 21 1/3 inches in length.

Contest organizers have received 583 entries. They claim that a large number of entries were not submitted because of the mail strike this summer. The contest closes November 30 with winners being announced in the new year.

Minden W.I.

The members of Minden Women's Institute met at 2 p.m. at the Common Room of the new Library Cultural Centre on the 21st with Mrs. Clare Brown presiding.

After the usual opening 17 members and 3 guests were present, with hostesses reading verses, Mrs. W. Moore, Convenor, reported sending 25 cards to sick, shut-ins and to others since the last meeting. Collections for Cards and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Correspondence was read and plans were made for the Victoria East District Tea on October 28.

Mrs. W. Moore, then came forward and made a presentation of a Life Membership Badge and Certificate to Mrs. M. Sears, who has taken her place in Minden W.I. for some 30 years and district offices as well. Mrs. Sears was really surprised and thanked all for this honour.

Plans were made for the Tea at Hyland Crest, Thursday November 5 with ladies offering lunch and help in serving.

A letter is to be sent regarding the raise in postal rates and how it affects this Branch, as members wished to join in protest.

Mrs. Yvonne Beaucage, Convenor, had as her topic "History of the W.I." She showed how this organization was begun, including the project of McDonald Institute at Guelph. Then she went on to give its aims, when other provinces joined, and how much she enjoyed reading the W.I. History Book, available at Minden Library. All really enjoyed this interesting and fact-filled paper.

Mrs. Beaucage had donated a hand-crafted Indian Doll and the Branch accepted this, and tickets will be sold with draw to be May 19, 1982 meeting.

Highway details unavailable locally

Details of reconstruction plans for Highway 503 and 121 in the Kinmount area have been made public but, according to Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, the information will not be available locally.

In a press release issued last week Eakins stated, "I regret these plans are not available closer to the affected areas and I will be contacting the Ministry of Transportation and Communications urging that these plans be made available at the municipal office or other central area in Kinmount."

The plans and studies are required under the Environmental Assessment Act.

The MTC intends to reconstruct Highway 503 from Highway 121 at Kinmount, westerly for 2.5 kilometres, and Highway 121 south of Kinmount for 7.9 kilometres to Union Creek.

We were in our Stedman's Store; what a change as the shelves are being filled. Surely pleased that Vince Connaughan has taken over. The staff is of the same people familiar to us and it is great that our Senior population may now find what they need without a trip out of town.

Also noticed the new Sandalwood Sign on the store near the bridge; wonder what this is and what goods will be sold there.

Just found out that Teresa Bluett, formerly of Kinmount has her own home on Anson Street quite near Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pritchard (her daughter). Glad you are here, Mrs. Bluett.

Sorry to report the death of an old friend and neighbour, Tom Harrison, who had his 90th birthday just recently. He enjoyed life, talks with friends and relatives or a game of euchre. For the past few years he was a resident of Hyland Crest Home but at one time worked in lumber camps in our County. You sure liked to have your own little joke, Tom!

Framed prints purchased with funds from the children's movies shown last spring and summer and given by Rosanne Hynard and Judy Phillips are now at the new Minden Library. They are very attractive and the Library Committee and public in general are thankful for these and will view them with pleasure, we are sure. Thank you both.

They talk about a woman's sphere As though it had a limit. There's not a place in earth or heaven, There's not a task to mankind given, There's not a whispered yes or no, There's not a life, or death, or birth, That has a feather's weight of worth, Without a woman in it.

Hi! The weather on the weekend turned out to be very pleasant considering what we had on Friday.

Rick, Pam and Josie Dunsford from Fenelon Falls, were up visiting in the area.

Saturday Night Bath
by Mildred L. Oliver
An outdoor well provided water, Huge wood piles furnished the fuel, And a big cookstove in the kitchen Served a purpose which was dual.

A round tub used to bathe in Was placed on the floor, near a chair; Every Saturday evening Was quite a gala affair.

A mop was placed in the corner For wet splashes here and there; Soap often scooted across the floor When you were washing your hair.

It was a rude awakening When the suds got in your eyes To find you'd grabbed some of your clothes, Instead of a towel nearby.

Sometimes soap served as a glider When you stepped out of the tub, And in carelessly forgetting, You landed with a thud!

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

An event took place on the first of November that the people up here should always remember. The Brubachers held their farewell service here and it is the eleventh year that they have held the service here.

They sang for us a fine duet. I imagine I hear their voices yet. They will sure be missed at Hyland Crest, but we wish them all the best when they move to their new home.

Monday afternoon without a fuss, Doris cranked up the Hyland bus. Helped all those who wanted in, then she took them for a spin. We think Doris is a dear. She is loved by all up here.

We watched live movies Monday night. One on Hong Kong with their industry and skills; one on skiing in the Colorado hills.

Tuesday morning the Rev. George Elliott of the Minden Anglican Church held a lovely Communion service. It was, by the way, All Saints Day. He took his text from Revelation. I was glad we had a good congregation.

Earl and Kathy came again to entertain us here. Earl came out from hunting camp where they are hunting deer (bucks).

He played some snappy tunes for us which we were glad to hear and Kathy her accordion along with her did bring. She also brought her Dad along to help her play and sing.

They sang some real old time songs from away back long ago and I think we all agree it was a real good show. Wednesday night was games night in the auditorium where we play different games and have a lot of fun.

The ladies are still busy getting ready for their Bazaar. They are also keeping busy our own Teddy Carr. Thursday afternoon's lunch is brought in by different ladies groups. If it wasn't for them we would be in the soup. On this lovely afternoon on the 5th day of November it was the Minden W.I. ladies I would like you to remember.

We also had some fine selections played by Mrs. Brooks some she picked at random out of different books. I would like to send these groups our very best wishes. I got roped in myself to help dry the dishes.

Friday afternoon it was sing song time again as it was before. Mrs. Coburn coming along to entertain once more. I don't know how many times or just what is the score.

Fred Ballard came along, the music he did play. We thank you both for making a really worth while day. Until next time.
